Prelude

> "I still have twelve warships under my command."

Certain words outlast the era that produced them. This sentence is more than a declaration of resolve. It is a symbol of composure under pressure, of refusing to abandon direction even when every condition stands against you.

The Geobukseon — Korea's legendary turtle ship — was never merely a weapon of war. It was a symbol of order imposed upon chaos, of a future carved out of an overwhelming present. Its name carries the weight of defense and strategy, restraint and conviction, and the unyielding will to stay afloat.

Geobukseon Coin revives this symbol for a new era.

We do not consume the past as decoration. We translate historical symbols into the language of our time, extending them into the image of a digital asset that connects with the world.

K-culture is no longer a regional phenomenon. It is a shared aesthetic, a language of contemporaneity understood globally. Geobukseon Coin rides this current, transforming Korea's history and symbolism into a new form of brand value for the blockchain age.

DECLARATION

This project is not merely the issuance of a token.
Geobukseon Coin is a declaration of a K-crypto brand — born in Korea, built for the world.

0 2

Project Overview

Geobukseon Coin is a K-crypto project grounded in Korean symbolism, designed to reach global markets and cultural sensibilities simultaneously.

We do not aim to build another function-driven token. Nor do we seek to create a symbol consumed by short-lived trends. Geobukseon Coin aligns historical narrative, cultural identity, digital community, and long-term brand building into a single trajectory.

Our purpose is clear.

- Reframe Korean symbolism into an asset language the world can intuitively understand
- Build a brand whose value sharpens with time, beyond short-term attention
- Extend the expansion of K-culture naturally into the realm of blockchain and digital assets

Geobukseon Coin starts in Korea. But its ambition has always been the world.

0 3

Why Geobukseon Coin, Why Now

Today's digital asset market is abundant. But abundance does not guarantee depth.

Countless projects emerge and vanish. Technology overflows, messages repeat, and attention moves fast. What endures is not infrastructure but symbolism — not function but identity.

Meme-driven assets, in particular, demonstrate remarkable virality. Yet they often reveal limits in sustainability. Many projects succeed in capturing a moment of attention but fail to accumulate the philosophy and cultural density needed to last.

Geobukseon Coin begins at this very point.

We do not borrow Korean motifs for a token. We reinterpret Korean symbolism with a global sensibility to build a brand asset. Not a name that merely catches the eye, but a symbol that grows sharper with time.

> Defense. Survival. Breakthrough. Voyage.
> These four words are understood beyond any single language.

What the world needs now is not another noise. It is a name that does not lose its dignity with time.

0 4

Historical Legacy of Geobukseon

The Geobukseon — the turtle ship — is not simply a famous warship from Korean history. It is a symbolic structure that demonstrated how a nation could defend itself in the face of crisis.

During Japan's invasions in the late 16th century, the Joseon navy did not fight from a position of strength. It defended its seas under unfavorable conditions, with limited resources and immense pressure. Admiral Yi Sun-sin emerged not as a figure of brute courage, but as a commander who unified order and strategy, naval tactics and morale, into one coherent force.

The Geobukseon stands as the very symbol of that command and strategy. Known for its covered upper deck lined with iron spikes to prevent enemy boarding, this vessel was designed to neutralize close-combat tactics and maintain structural advantage at sea.

What matters is not that the Geobukseon was a strong ship. What matters is that it was the product of a mindset that could reverse disadvantage. It was a structure of defense built to endure, and at the same time, a structure of strategy built to reclaim initiative.

- A structure not easily shaken
- Sustainability beyond short-lived trends
- A bearing that holds direction even in crisis
- A voyage carrying the trust of a community
- A symbol that starts local and reaches global

We do not borrow from the past. We inherit the symbol and refine it into the language of the future.

05

Admiral Yi Sun-sin and Strategic Spirit

Admiral Yi Sun-sin (1545–1598) was a naval commander of the Joseon dynasty who led a series of decisive victories during Japan's invasions in the 1590s, securing his place as one of Korea's most revered historical figures. He was not simply a war hero. He was a leader who forged order and strategy out of overwhelming disadvantage.

This is why Admiral Yi and the Geobukseon remain such powerful symbols to this day. Their name does not stand for victory alone. It stands for preparation, restraint, judgment, survival, and breakthrough — all at once.

THE SPIRIT WE INHERIT

Geobukseon Coin reinterprets this legacy in the language of the present. We do not treat the past like a souvenir. We seek to restore the spirit left behind by Admiral Yi and the Geobukseon — the composure to hold direction in the face of crisis, and the intelligence to build structure — within today's digital asset brand.

If the Geobukseon guarded the seas of its time,
Geobukseon Coin seeks to prove that Korean symbolism can connect with the world across today's digital ocean.

0 6

K-Culture and Global Vision

K is no longer a regional code. It is already a cultural marker the world understands.

From music and film to drama and fashion, from food to aesthetics, Korea has repeatedly proven one thing: regional identity can become global competitive advantage.

Geobukseon Coin extends this momentum into the realm of digital assets.

We do not define Koreanness narrowly. We believe that what is most deeply Korean can travel the farthest. This is precisely why Geobukseon is the right symbol. Its name carries the historical density of Korea, while also holding an image and tension that is globally legible.

Defense and restraint, fortitude and voyage, strategy and survival. The symbolism of the Geobukseon is not confined to any single culture.

Built in Korea.

Carried by culture.

Expanded to the world.

We do not invoke the world to emphasize Korea. We present Korea in a way that can reach the world.

0 7

Brand Philosophy and Community Identity

At the center of Geobukseon Coin is not price — it is attitude. We ask first what we will symbolize, and how we will be remembered.

This project chooses lasting trust over fleeting hype. It aspires to be a project that accumulates depth, not one that shouts loudest. Long-term symbolism takes precedence over short-term frenzy.

Our community is not a mere collection of holders. They are people who share an aesthetic, support a direction, and join a voyage together.

Brand Philosophy

- Dignity over noise
- Longevity over trend
- Belonging over speculation
- Participation over consumption
- Symbolism over exaggeration

Geobukseon Coin does not wish to become something quickly consumed. We aspire to become a name that grows more distinct with time.

0 8

Ecosystem and Utility

The utility of Geobukseon Coin is not a simple feature list. It is a framework for how brand and community experiences will be designed.

A token must carry meaning beyond its number. It should signify belonging, enable participation, and accumulate over time into a cultural experience.

Initial Utility Directions

- A symbol of community membership
- Early holder-exclusive brand campaigns and limited events
- Governance-style voting experiments on key project directions
- Co-creation through content, memes, and visual storytelling
- Community contribution reward programs
- Planned exploration of NFTs, digital memberships, and merchandise
- Priority access as the brand expands

We do not make inflated promises. We offer clear principles instead.

> Holding should lead to participation. Participation should accumulate into experience. And experience should ultimately convert into brand equity.

The Geobukseon Coin ecosystem values sensibility over function, relationship over consumption, and compounding experience over one-off events. KOBUK has been issued and allocated across community, liquidity, marketing, team, and reserve wallets in accordance with the project's initial token structure — and this foundation will serve as the basis for expanding brand and community experiences going forward.

Technical Structure

Geobukseon Coin (KOBUK) is issued on Solana as an SPL token with a fixed total supply of 1,000,000,000 tokens. Following issuance and distribution, both mint authority and freeze authority have been revoked to reinforce fixed-supply integrity and minimize administrative control.

Technology is not the protagonist of this project. But technology must be the foundation that upholds its integrity.

Authority Structure

- Mint Authority: Revoked — no additional issuance possible
- Freeze Authority: Revoked — no account freezing capability

Design Criteria

- Global accessibility and high transaction throughput
- Stable issuance and operational environment
- Compatibility with the Solana ecosystem
- Long-term scalability
- Transparency in security and authority management

We do not seek to impress through complexity. We seek to earn trust through refined structure.

Roadmap

Phase 1 — Foundation

Brand identity finalization · World-building and core narrative · Whitepaper and official documentation · Community channel launch · Initial visual and content release

Phase 2 — Launch

Token issuance completed · Initial liquidity provisioning · Core community operations · Brand campaign rollout · Establishing global inflow channels

Phase 3 — Expansion

International community growth · Advanced meme and content strategy · Participatory event operations · External collaborations and partnerships

Phase 4 — Brand Experience

NFT and digital membership exploration · Merchandise and brand asset expansion · Enhanced holder experiences · K-culture content collaborations

Phase 5 — Long-term Ecosystem

Sustained community structure · Brand asset consolidation · Integration with diverse digital experiences · Establishing a K-crypto image that reaches the world

A roadmap is not a tool for display. It is a promise — showing how far and in what order this project intends to go.

Risks and Limitations · Legal Notice

Risks and Limitations

Every project carries uncertainty. The digital asset market is defined by high volatility and rapid environmental shifts. Key risks include:

- High market price volatility
- Evolving regulatory environments across jurisdictions
- Constraints inherent to early-stage operations
- Potential security and technical vulnerabilities
- Uncertainty in community growth pace
- Cultural interpretation gaps during global expansion

A project's integrity is revealed not by the scale of its promises, but by how it addresses uncertainty. Geobukseon Coin manages risk through phased execution, transparent disclosure, and responsible operations.

Conclusion

The Geobukseon is not a relic of the past. It is a symbol waiting to be reinterpreted for the present.

Geobukseon Coin is a project that translates the historical depth and cultural sensibility of Korea into the language of digital assets. We are not building just another token. We are building a brand image — one that begins in Korea and connects with the world.
This project does not exist to shout louder.

It exists to last longer.

It starts in Korea.

It expands to the world.

And it does not sink easily.

That is the standard Geobukseon Coin aspires to.
